TENTATIVE OUTLINE OF OUR HISTORY

PART I. Some historical notes and an outline of the Samuel Miller branch.

PART II. History of the Abraham Miller branch.

PART III. The Martin Miller branch.

PART IV. Susanna, Nancy and Barbara Miller and their descendants.

If sufficient information can be obtained in regard to David Miller and Jacob Miller, Jr., a fifth part may be added. At present, however, it looks as though we could include what we know of these two sons in PART IV. An elaborate index is planned for the close, which will furnish ready reference to any name in the entire history. It is intended to place this at the end of PART IV, or V, as the case may be. We shall appreciate criticisms or suggestions at the coming reunion at Sangersville, Va., or by letter, from those who can not attend the reunion. The above plan, which will be better understood by referring to the Family Tree in PART I, may be modified later.

CONNECTION OF THE DIFFERENT PARTS OR NUMBERS OF THE HISTORY

Again, let us urge that you purchase all the parts or numbers as they are published. You need the first part because it is an introduction to the whole, and the Family Tree in this part will show you the scope of the work. You need the other parts because the cousins in these parts are your relations, no matter to which branch you belong. Get all the parts; it will enlarge your view of the family tree, and will give you a feeling that you have a larger relationship than you imagined.

ACKNOWLEDGMENT

In PART I we gave a list of those who have helped to make this history by giving information. This list must necessarily be incomplete, as it is impossible to name all who have helped, but if you have sent us only one name or one date, whether your name is in the list or not, we thank you for it. We wish here to especially thank the following who have assisted on this part of the history: Mrs. Leo C. Stombaugh, Bryan, O., for an excellent record of the Solomon Miller family; Mrs. Mary Miller Schwenk, Washington, D. C., for corrections and additions to the George Wine Miller family; Miss Glenna E. Miller, Union, O., and Samuel A. Miller, Modesto, Cal., for information on the David D. Miller family; Samuel J. Leedy, Lima, O., for a record of Christena Miller's descendants; L. M. Rinker, Newport News, Va., for supplying omissions in the Rinker family; Miss Mary F. Hinegardner, McGaheysville, Va., for assistance in checking over dates in PARTS I and II; Abraham J. Miller, Bridgewater, Va., for pictures for the present part; Dr. O. L. and Rev. L. S. Miller for encouragement along several lines; Adam H. Miller for information on Anthony A. Miller. We also thank the many who have written kind words in regard to PART I of our history. Our work has been somewhat hurried, and is more or less imperfect, but we have felt it best not to delay too long, as there is much material ahead of us to be worked over. The publication of family histories is not a money making business, but it is a pleasure to know that our cousins are pleased with the beginning, and have a desire for its completion. If we can get a wider acquaintance of our relationship we feel sure that it will make for more extended brotherhood and a stronger kinship.

EXPLANATIONS

- b. stands for "born."
- d. stands for "died."

m. stands for "married."

unm. stands for "unmarried."

The location of any name will hereafter be indicated by placing the number of the part in which the name is found, in Roman characters, followed by figures indicating the number of said name. To illustrate:

"MARY IDELLA LEEDY (II, 109)" indicates that her name may be found in PART II, and her number is 109 in that part. Her name is also followed by 27, which indicates that she is descended from Christena Miller and Jacob Leedy, whose number is 27.

This history will most likely fall into the hands of some who know more about certain families than has been reported to us. If they will kindly report to the author any facts that they think ought to be included in our history, he will appreciate it very much, and such matter may be published later.

FAMILY RECORDS

The matter of collecting data has become extremely difficult, because people do not keep their records as religiously as our forefathers did. Churches, it may be said, do not keep full records of births, baptisms and marriages as they should. In this fast age our family records are overlooked, many, in fact keeping better records of their thoroughbred stock than they do of their children and family connections. In many cases we have received records of the same individual from different sources, and these records often do not agree. In such cases we have done the best we could to name the correct date, but it must be evident that mistakes will occur. We urge that more strict records be kept, and that the records of our forefathers be preserved. Sometimes people destroy old German records because they can not read them. Do not destroy the old German Bibles with family records in them. It may be important, some day, for you to have just the facts that they contain.

Please report promptly all mistakes and omissions noticed in this book so that corrections may be made on our records.

ABRAHAM MILLER

IN PART I of our history we followed the descendants of Samuel Miller, who was born and died on the old home place of Jacob Miller of 1748. He seems never to have gotten very far from home. His third wife, however, as explained in PART I, came from West Virginia, and this led for frequent exchange of visits between the Millers of Virginia and the Arnolds of West Virginia. As previously stated, three sons of Samuel Arnold, who came from Germany, located near Burlington, West Virginia. A daughter from each of these three families married and moved to Virginia: Elizabeth, daughter of Zachariah, married Samuel Miller; Christena, daughter of Daniel, married Abraham Miller; and Nancy, daughter of Samuel, married Jacob Garber of Augusta county, Virginia, who was the third son of Abraham and Elizabeth Humbert Garber.

We shall now attempt to follow the descendants of Abraham and Christena Arnold Miller. It is not definitely known in what year Abraham moved to Augusta county, but as he was married in 1814 and his father died in 1815, it is quite likely that he moved on the farm willed to him by his father soon after the latter date. Then too, we find that Jacob Jr. sold his part of the Augusta county farm in 1816. So we are led to believe that Abraham moved on the part of the farm willed to him about 1816. His farm consisted of 200 acres of land on the North River, near Sangersville, Va. He was to receive this as a part of his legacy, for 750 pounds good Virginia money.

Some of the buildings put up by Abraham Miller are still standing, and the old home is occupied by his grandson, Abraham J. Miller. The old house and saw mill shown in the accompanying illustrations were both built the same year, 1836, a little over a hundred years ago. The old barn which Abraham built in 1836 was struck by lightning in 1916 and burned. The house and saw mill are still standing, but the latter is to be rebuilt in the near future. I. B. Miller and Emanuel J. Miller, two of the grandsons of Abraham, also occupied part of the home place. The part on which Emanuel lived, however, was sold after his death.

The descendants of Abraham Miller are widely scattered, and are engaged in numerous occupations and professions, although the majority are farmers. In the matter of church relationship they also vary. The John Cupp family, for instance, are mostly farmers. Anthony Cupp belongs to the Church of the Brethren, Henry is a Presbyterian, Barbara and Henry Searfoss are Methodists, John and wife, Susan and Elzy, Sarah, Elizabeth and Adam are German Baptists. Anthony, Elizabeth and Anna Barbara were born in Allen county, Ohio, the others of this family were born at Sangerville, Virginia.

He was active in the home church and also in outlying mission territory, making numerous trips of fifty to one hundred miles, on horseback, and being away from his home and family for one or two weeks at a time. These trips took him to Highland county, Virginia and to Pocahontas, Randolph and Pendleton counties in West Virginia. In 1899 he contracted with the District Mission Board to locate in Big Valley, Highland county, Va., for the purpose of looking after the work of the church. Here there was no church house, no organization and no minister. On May 9, 1899, he moved his family here, and lived here for 36 years. During this time he was instrumental in building up the numerical strength of the church until there are now two organized congregations, with two ministers in each, and also three church houses.
